

Mr James Bano's (Mr Andrew Bano's brother) e-mails stating that Andrew Bano 'attempted to (sic) suicide' and threatening to sue me if my weblink regarding Mr Bano, is not removed.

Re: Request for removal

"James Bano" <jamesbano@lawyer.com>

--- On Thu, 26/4/12, James Bano <jamesbano@lawyer.com> wrote:

From: James Bano <jamesbano@lawyer.com>
Subject: Request for removal
To: phyljay@racialabuse-houseoflords.com
Date: Thursday, 26 April, 2012, 7:50

Dear Admin,

I am here to bring your concern to a serious matter, that a link present on your website contains the content which is affecting my brother's reputation in a negative manner. And he is also been facing a serious loss of profit in his business due to the negative content posted on your website. The negative content has been affecting my brother's name in the society very badly. He have lost his peace of life. He also attempted to suicide. The link in which the negative content posted is <http://racialabuse-houseoflords.com/bano.pdf>

So now I request you to kindly review this matter and remove the link as soon as possible.

Thanking You
James Bano

--- On Thu, 3/5/12, James Bano <jamesbano@lawyer.com> wrote:

From: James Bano <jamesbano@lawyer.com>
Subject: Warning
To: phyljay@racialabuse-houseoflords.com
Date: Thursday, 3 May, 2012, 5:55

Dear Admin,

I am here to bring your concern to a serious matter, I continuously requesting you from many days but you are not replying. If you will not take any step regarding this matter then I will sue a case against your website. The link in which the negative content posted is <http://racialabuse-houseoflords.com/bano.pdf>

So now I request you to kindly review this matter and remove the link as soon as possible.

Thanking You
James Bano